Source II

The state determines all that is morally, socially, and materially valuable. Therefore, it has the right and obligation to monopolize all power and authority, controlling all aspects of society. The state functions as the protector of citizens, providing them with identities, welfare, and security in return for loyalty and obedience. No rights or freedoms should exist apart from service to the state. Individuals and groups constitute one unified, integral whole working towards common goals. Thus, any notion that liberalism functions for the greater good is naive.

Source III

Canadians have proved themselves willing to put in place important measures to address extraordinary threats. The Anti-Terrorism Act was carefully crafted by parliamentarians to provide such measures in a way that was consistent with our Charter of Rights and Freedoms and with our core values. Given the nature of the measures adopted by the Government, we are committed to their legislative review at the end of this year¹ to ensure that the balance struck was appropriate. We also need to ensure that there are effective mechanisms for oversight and review so that, in protecting an open society, we do not inadvertently erode the very liberties and values we are determined to uphold.
